

IMU Members: Join SIAM at a 30% discount!

Society for Industrial and Applied Mathematics – SIAM

IMU members living outside the United States: join SIAM as a reciprocal member and become part of our international and interdisciplinary community of more than 14,000 mathematicians, computer scientists, engineers, and physicists. SIAM members are educators, practitioners, researchers, and students from more than 100 countries working in industry, laboratories, government, and academia. Experience opportunities to share research with fellow scientists and access to comprehensive, current information in applied mathematics and computational science. Acclaimed scientific journals and books, advocacy efforts to increase funding for research and education, and outreach to students are just a few of the ways in which SIAM supports the advancement of applied mathematics and computational science.

For complete information and to join online as a reciprocal member and receive a 30% discount, visit www.siam.org/join\_siam.